CAMRT Membership

Imagine a role where you have the opportunity to collaborate with members across the country, sharing common goals and ensuring the organization and its members meet the challenges ahead. A role where the culmination of experiences on advisory councils in educational institutions, volunteering with provincial regulatory bodies and associations will guarantee success. Board membership would provide the opportunity to share an inspired vision; allowing me to bring my leadership, team building and future forward thinking to enhance an association that already engages members to broaden their knowledge through research and enhance their practices through continuing professional development to provide high quality patient care.

I would bring my expertise in education, my clinical experiences in MRI, CT and radiography and my extensive network of imaging and radiation therapy professionals from across the country to help frame the values, vision, mission of the association and promote the CAMRT association and membership. Utilizing my knowledge and experience with previous volunteering at the provincial level and work with the OAMRS to build positive relationships with volunteers and to increase engagement and rewarding opportunities for our members. While listening, reflecting and sharing feedback have been essential to my professional growth; developing meaningful relationships has been fundamental to a personal value: making a positive difference. Attributes I would enjoy bringing to my role on the CAMRT Board.

The members of the Board of Directors need excellent communication skills, the ability to be effective team players, the desire to participate in framing the future strategic goals and to engage in meaningful experiences that will aid a diverse collaborative environment. Our current strategic plan identifies four pillars and as I look to the future, both Responsive Education and Our Thriving Community are pillars that I believe should play a large role. The ever-changing landscape of our profession requires future forward thinking for both limited practice and advanced opportunities for our members. Addressing this within our goals will help to ensure we continue to look at advancements and the potential positive outcomes for technologists. The goals within the pillar: Our Thriving Community have the opportunity to support the individual member and encourage local value while enhancing the both provincial and national communities. Although the CAMRT is often recognized as the voice of the profession; it is paramount that the future goals recognize our community is a chorus of diversity within each of the provinces rather than one voice.

This opportunity would allow me to inspire, engage and grow while serving my community. My passion and commitment to making a difference would benefit the future of our profession, the CAMRT and our membership.
